Wastewater management the topic

Local Authority meets State Pollution Bureau

By BRENT MACEY

Representatives of the Mississippi Bureau of Pollution Control and the Waveland Wastewater Authority met Wednesday night at Waveland City Hall and swapped opinions on who has the most cost-effective plan to meet federal wastewater guidelines which become effective in 1983.

Both parties remained firm in the belief their own approach to management of the collection, treatment and disposal of sewage is the best way to meet the demands of the Federal Clean Water Act.

Charles Chisholm, head of the Bureau of Pollution Control, told the committee, "The city of Waveland has participated in numerous discussions and consistently said they are opposed to a three-county plan. I respect what you have to do and realize you have to do what you think is best for the community."

"If you assess the facts you will find that the three-county system is the best," he added.

Both parties agreed that facilities are not the question and tried to contain the discussion to the question of management.

Mayor John Longo, president of the Waveland Authority, said, "If you talk about management you are talking about cost and overhead....We feel we can find our own managers without increasing costs and overhead."

He added, "We do not feel a large bureaucracy with a large overhead which will increase costs to the householder is the answer."

After more discussion along the lines of what system was cheaper, Chisholm reluctantly posed the question, "Am I correct to assume that you would like to know what you will have to do to receive approval?"

The Waveland Authority has yet to receive approval from the Board of Pollution Control or the Environmental Protection Agency, but is authorized under a local and private bill passed by the 1980 State Legislature.

"He qualified the rhetorical question by adding, "We do not recommend that you do this."

"The three county plan is the way to go," he said.

"Our plan has been adopted by coast citizens and we are moving to implement the program."

"What you would have to do is convince whomever that there is a better way for Hancock County."

He said the authority would have to gather information "similar to what we have gathered for the three-county arrangement."

He stated that Calab Dana, staff engineer for the Bureau of Pollution Control, would oversee the study.

The Waveland authority moved to have Authority Engineer Ray Eaton begin that study.

Ray St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett, Waveland Authority member, asked Chisholm what would happen if Bay St. Louis joined the regional authority and Waveland and Hancock County did not.

"That's a $2,000 question," Chisholm said. "I really don't know how that dilemma could be worked through. But we would find our way through one way or another."

"We hope you join," he added.

Earlier in the meeting Longo voiced disapproval of a proposed $133,000 reimbursement from the three-county authority for Waveland's treatment facility.

Longo stated the treatment plant had cost the city $2.3 million.

"There are other figures which show discrepancies," he stated.

The mayor said, "It is not our jurisdiction to pass on public property. It is not ours to give away."

Chisholm said, "How much was paid for the treatment facilities has nothing to do with whether to have a three-county authority."

"They could have chosen another."

Engineer contract ok'd on Bay repaving projects

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Bay St. Louis City Council has accepted a contract from a Picayune engineering firm for plans and specifications to repave a portion of Main Street and Beach Boulevard. The proposal involves three contracts to overlay two blocks of Main Street from Second Street to Beach Boulevard and Beach Boulevard from Main Street to DeMontuzin Street.

Mayor Larry Bennett said Friday morning no beginning construction date has been set yet for the street projects. Council Attorney Joseph Gex informed the city leaders Tuesday night a contract submitted by Broadway and Scale Engineers of Picayune is legal and recommended the board execute the contract.

The board voted to accept and execute the contract with Council President Peter Benvenuti casting the only negative vote.

Benvenuti said the combined total of the engineering fees on all three contracts is approximately $13,000.

The council president would not state his reasons for opposing the engineering contract.

Regarding a water line on Keller and Bismark Streets, Bennett informed the board two homes have been tapped to the two-inch line owned by two individuals.

Noel Fuente and Dusty Rhodes paid for 560-feet of two-inch water line to run water to their homes," the mayor stated.

"In January, 1977 they paid $199 for the pipe. Since then two new houses have been built and they're tapped into that line," Bennett said.

"Since they put the line down, they have asked to be reimbursed," the mayor reported.

Gex noted, "That's the only way the annexed area is getting water."

Councilman Wilmer Seymour said, "We've got people who have put a line down here and we got paid for it."

Councilman Harry Farve, "We ought to table this for further discussion. This could be a bombshell."

The council tabled the Fuente and Rhodes request for payment.

Effective Feb. 21

School officials vote to close county dumps

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Effective Feb. 21 all dumps on Hancock County School District 16th Section land will be closed.

The county school board Saturday voted unanimously to close four dumps located on 16th Section land near Pearlington, Leetown, and Necaise Crossing Communities and on C. Martin Ladner Road.

Statewide 16th Section lands are reserved to generate revenue for county school systems. Prior to 1978 this property was managed by county supervisors, but since that time school boards have been charged with supervision of this land.

Regarding federal anti-pollution laws, Board member Louie Ladner stated, "To defend ourselves from the federal government I think the board should approve closing these dumps."

Superintendent of Education Billy D. Sills reported, "I've been working with Louis Fernandez of the County Health Department and he says we're going to have to close these dumps."

"Then we're going to have to try to get the supervisors to clean up these areas, put posted signs up, block the roads leading to these dumps and place signs directing people to the county dump near the Catahoula Community," Sills explained.

Louie Ladner reiterated, "We're going to have to close the dumps."

Board Vice President Woodrow Ladner noted, "We inherited this problem from the supervisors."

Louie Ladner stated, "The supervisors are using us to stand behind in front of the federal government."

Woodrow Ladner said, "I don't know what we can do. We can make all sorts of resolutions, but that won't stop people from dumping garbage there."

Louie Ladner again suggested, "We should close all the dumps and meet with the supervisors to solve this problem."

Woodrow Ladner asked Hancock North Central High School Principal Donald Hillman if the school still utilized the Necaise Crossing dump.

Hillman replied, "When all this came up about the dumps I stopped moving garbage there. We burned what we could at the dump and we're now transporting all garbage to the

Agency to give free seedlings

The Hancock County Soil and Water Conservation District this week will be distributing slash pine and hardwood seedlings to homeowners in observance of Tree Planting Week and Arbor Day.

The trees can be picked up at the Soil Conservation Service Office between 7 a.m. and 5 p.m. in the Colonial Plaza, US-90, on Hwy. 90 in office No. 7, Bay St. Louis.

Personnel of the district and the USDA Soil Conservation Service along with the Mississippi Forestry Commission will be available with information, according to Ricky Smith, 4-H youth agent; Harry Patterson, Hancock County conservationists; and Rand Riedrick, Hancock County forester.

Arbor Day was first observed in Nebraska in 1872.

Mississippi began official observance of Arbor Day in 1926, pursuant to Section 5, Chapter 161 of the Mississippi Code.

The annual date for celebration of Arbor Day in our state was changed several times before finally being permanently established some years ago as the second Friday in February each year.

Arbor Day is a day to plant trees, shrubs and flowers to enhance the beauty of our state and to call attention to the many contributions that these gifts from God provide to mankind, Smith noted.

Trees are given special attention on Arbor Day in Mississippi because more than half of the state is covered by them.

"Our economy is heavily dependent on the growing and processing of trees — Forestry recently moved ahead of cotton into second place as an economy contributor in Mississippi, Riedrick pointed out.

"Our environment is the envy of many other states, largely due to our renewable forest resources," he noted.

Forests in Mississippi provide employment for more than 64,000 people. Each dollar value in standing trees at harvest adds many more dollars to Mississippi's economy through harvesting, manufacturing, marketing, transportation, and construction.

Forest watersheds prevent pollution of streams and lakes by keeping the soil from eroding away. Much of the rainfall, which would otherwise run off rapidly, soaks deep into the soil and eventually reaches underground reservoirs where it is held for future use.

"For a great many people of all ages, our forest resource is a major source for recreation. Bird watching, plant identification, hiking, camping, and hunting rank high in outdoor recreation preferences," Patterson explained.

"The spirit of Arbor Day is unique in that it looks forward, never backward. It directs the minds and hearts of participants to higher goals — goals which can be attained only through personal involvement, sacrifice, planning, and responsible action," he noted.

It is a spirit which appeals to the young of heart and inspires them to work for the betterment of their community, state, and nation, Patterson added.

There is a limited supply of these seedlings, so therefore, first come, first served requests will be honored.

For more information contact the Mississippi Forestry Commission at 467-4728, the Soil Conservation Service at 467-5108, or the 4-H Youth Agent at 467-5456.

Compretta victorious in open records fight

Hancock County State Representative J.P. Compretta has emerged victorious from last week's committee fights to get an open records bill on the floor of the House.

Compretta deserves high praise for the courageous stand he made as chairman of a Judiciary B subcommittee which reviewed the measure authored by Biloxi Representative Dennis Dollar.

Compretta cast a tie-breaking vote to recommend the bill out of subcommittee by 4-3, but that move was frustrated when a subcommittee member said he was not properly notified and added his vote for a 4-4 tie, effectively killing Dollar's bill.

Compretta's subcommittee, however, had reported favorably on an abbreviated open records measure and Dollar was able to add his bill as an amendment.

The Judiciary B Committee moved that combination measure to the floor Thursday night just minutes before a deadline would have eliminated any chance for the bill during the current session.

While Dollar admits the bill "is not in the most advantageous position" on the House calendar, the measure is still alive and further along the treacherous route to becoming law than any previous open records offering in the past three years.

Compretta bucked some of the more powerful elements in the House who are attempting to keep Mississippi's citizens in the dark about how their government is operated and their tax dollars spent.

While the war is not yet won, Compretta has led the fight for better government in Mississippi to victory in some important initial battles.

We are proud of our young representative from Hancock County.

Protect your family, give blood Wednesday

The Hancock County Blood Bank responded to an emergency call for blood recently at Hancock General Hospital when a Blood Bank member needed some 30 units of blood.

J.D. (Big John) Rutherford, Blood Bank chairman, reports the organization is in its 30th year of providing some 300 to 350 units of blood to residents of the county, free of charge.

Rutherford noted a donor is automatically a member of the bank and receives a membership card listing blood type.

The minimum age for donors has been lowered to 17, and Rutherford expressed appreciation to St. Stanislaus students who contributed to the bank in an October drawing.

We urge all residents 17-years-of-age and above to join this most worthwhile community service by donating a pint of blood at the drawing Wednesday, 2 to 8 p.m. at the Bay St. Louis American Legion Hall on Green Meadow Road.

Safe boating, proper equipment urged

About dark Wednesday, Rev. Joe Cothen observed from the I-10 bridge over the Jourdan River a red flare—of the type usually indicating distress—about a mile south of the bridge in an area not accessible by land vehicles.

Rev. Cothen went immediately to the Diamondhead Marina and contacted Flotilla 33 of the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary.

The Flotilla contacted the Coast Guard at Pascagoula who dispatched the Auxiliary vessel BEBEDE from Diamondhead, under orders to investigate. BEBEDE found a boat aground with three adults and one child aboard.

The weather was clear with freezing temperatures predicted for the night.

The BEBEDE was unable to free the grounded boat, so the passengers were evacuated to Diamondhead about 7:30 p.m.

Had the grounded boat not been equipped with flares, as now required by the Coast Guard, the people aboard would have in all probability spent the night in an open boat without heat in subfreezing temperatures.

Elsewhere in this edition of the Sea Coast Echo, Flotilla 33 is advertising classes in Boating Safety and Boat Handling to be held at St. Stanislaus College beginning March 4. Citizens interested in safe boating are urged to attend these free classes.

OPPORTUNITY FOR COMMENT—John E. Schott of Bay St. Louis, left, recently took advantage of an opportunity to talk with George Evans, right, of Senator Thad Cochran's district office in Jackson. Evans and James Davis, Cochran's assistant, came to Hancock County Courthouse Wednesday to hear comments and receive input from local citizens on issues of concern. Evans said he travels throughout the state, visiting each county courthouse three times a year. Information and questions are referred to the district office in Jackson and later 'experts in federal agencies such as Social Security, Veterans Affairs and USDA study the problems.

HERITAGE NEWS FORUM

By EDWIN FEULNER
Senator Edward Kennedy has just offered conservatives the sincerest form of flattery—imitation.

According to The Wall Street Journal, the Senator is thinking of starting a private think-tank to generate new ideas for liberal programs. One suspects the inspiration for this scheme comes from the success conservative think-tanks have had in providing intellectual ammunition in the battle of Senator Kennedy isn't the only one who has noticed the conservative intellectual revival. Senator Daniel Patrick Moynihan of New York laments that the best new ideas are coming from "the right" these days. And Ralph Nader understudy Mark Green recently went through great contortions in an essay in The Washington Post to say that the conservatives' "new ideas" aren't new at all. (Criticism of that sort is yet another form of flattery.)

Media moguls also are paying attention—as you'll see if you flip through your favorite news magazine or newspaper, where you're likely to find at least one article on conservative think-tanks. Times certainly have changed!

It was only yesterday that the phrase "conservative intellectual" would have provoked derisive laughter in establishment political and academic circles. Now, the liberals envy us our think-tanks and our thinkers.

What's going on? The answer is: nothing less than a revolution. For the past few decades, the intellectual establishment in this country was predominantly—even exclusively—liberal. So, for the most part, was the government. The liberals in academia and the liberals in government made an unhappy marriage (unhappy for the rest of us, that is). The academics thought up new programs for the government, and the government put those programs into effect—in the process, creating grants and jobs for the academics, and usually, more problems.

With nearly all the major institutions of American society in happy liberal accord, the liberal thinkers got lazy. They couldn't help it. Conservatives, however, had the incentive to try harder—to propose constructive alternatives rather than merely attack liberal programs. Now their work is paying off.

I'm not bringing this up just to kick the liberals while they're down. For one thing, I don't expect them to stay down for long. I'm sure Senator Kennedy will indeed come up with his think-tank, or something like it, and Senator George McGovern with his so-called "Committee for Common Sense," or whatever it is he's cooked up. And politicians and academics on the left will work very very hard at becoming lean and mean once again.

However, the rise and fall of American liberalism is a useful morality tale for American conservatives. This is not a particularly ideological country. Americans, a practical people, are interested in programs that work, not just those that sound good. If conservatives are to stay in power, they must remain as clear-sighted and alert as they were when they were out of power. If is not enough to rely on the voters' allegiance to the abstract principles we hold dear, admirable though those principles may be. We must show them we are "doers," as well as "thinkers."

Lung group offers non-smoking aids

In February the Mississippi Lung Association is suggesting that Mississippians celebrate a happy, nonsmoking Valentine's Day, says Mrs. Allen Edwards of Indianola, president of the Christmas Seal voluntary health organization.

"We are urging every Mississippian who still smokes to quit smoking for someone they love," Mrs. Edwards continued. "And to help, we are offering the new 'Freedom from Smoking in Twenty Days' plan and the 'Lifetime of Freedom from Smoking' program."

The self-help plan provides a practical way to quit smoking in twenty days. Then a special maintenance program helps a person create a permanent nonsmoking lifestyle. The Freedom from Smoking program is designed for use at the smoker's convenience and without group participation.

More and more Mississippians who smoke are quitting these days Mrs. Edwards stated. It is truly a matter of "life and death."

Valentine's Day is the perfect time to quit smoking and further protect your health. Traditionally it is a time when people show others how much they care and are concerned for their loved one's health and wellbeing.

Everyone will benefit including nonsmokers in the family—when the air is not clouded with chemicals and gases contained in secondhand smoke.

The Mississippi Lung Association receives numerous calls and letters from families and friends of smokers, asking for help to convince their loved ones to stop smoking and to heed the advice given by physicians, health agencies and the yearly Surgeon General's report. To find out more about quitting smoking for yourself and for someone you love, contact the Mississippi Lung Association, Post Office Box 9665, Jackson, MS 39206 or telephone 362-5453.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Compretta initiative on open records issue credited

February 6, 1981

Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis
Dear Sir:

After several days of holding our breaths in suspense, it is certainly a relief to read in the papers that the Open Public Records Bill has finally passed the full House Judiciary "B" Committee in the State Legislature.

This bill is sorely needed to open up State government to the people.

In these United States of America there is absolutely no excuse for our state being the only one in the union which does not have a law guaranteeing the people's right of access to public records.

A large share of the credit for getting the bill along this far is due Representative J.P. Compretta, our own representative from Hancock County, who served as chairman of the subcommittee to which the bill was originally assigned.

Despite repeated delays and parliamentary maneuvers staged by the opposition, Representative Compretta was able to get a bill to the full committee where it was amended into an acceptable form.

But make no mistake—the battle to pass an Open Public Records law is not over yet. There is strong opposition in our State Legislature to such a law, and I will leave it to you to guess why.

I would certainly urge all citizens who are interested in good government to use their influence through phone calls and letters to the State Legislature to demand the passage of this Open Public Records Bill.

I would also recommend that all our citizens give J.P. Compretta a big thanks and a well-done for getting the bill to the point where it may be considered by the entire House of Representatives.

Thank you,
A.M. Wilkinson

Concerned Citizens president praises Dunklin benefactors

To the Editor
Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir,

The Concerned Citizens of Hancock County wish to express our sincere thanks to all the wonderful people who shared their trust and love with us in donating monies, material, time and interest in the construction of the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Willie D. Dunklin at 504 State Street. Special thanks to the many Seabees who contributed a tremendous amount of help.

Many donors wish not to have their names mentioned.

However, we must thank the architect and carpet donors in addition to the everyday people who just wanted to give a hand.

Mr. Ellis Cuevas, editor of the Sea Coast Echo, put forth many hours of his time to stimulate interest and motivation throughout the Gulf Coast vicinity.

Thank you and God bless you.
Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Gerry Lang

Bay resident praises Compretta's leadership on open records

Editor

Dear Sir:

I am proud of Rep. J.P. Compretta and his hard-fought battle to help pass an open records bill in Mississippi.

It seems odd that an open records law would not have the full backing of all our state representatives.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Gloria Holland

Hancock Blood Bank chairman issues appeal for donations

Editor
Sea Coast Echo

Bay St. Louis

Dear Friends and Members:
The Hancock County Blood Bank will have its regular drawing Wednesday from 2 to 8 p.m., at the American Legion Home.

As is usually the case at each drawing time, and more particularly this one since the previous drawing was off, our blood supply is critically low.

We know you fully understand the importance to the life and health of our community to have blood available at all times, and we need your help.

Will you please assist by requesting your members of employees, members of their families and friends who are physically able, between the ages of 18 and 60, male and female, to come in Wednesday afternoon, February 11, and donate a pint of blood?

Please read this at your next meeting, post it on your bulletin boards, or publish it in any bulletins mailed before the blood drawing.

Your assistance in any way at your command to make this blood drawing a success will be deeply appreciated.

Sincerely,
John D. Rutherford, Jr.
Chairman
Hancock County Blood Bank

Hancock representative 'fighting for what is right'

Feb. 6, 1981

To The Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis
Dear Sir:

I have been following with great interest the current debate in the Mississippi House of Representatives on open records legislation.

The fact that it has to be debated is disappointing, to say the least. Hopefully, this year we will get in step with the rest of the nation in providing the public with knowledge of their government at work.

After all, the records under debate do belong to the public and not the public servants under whose jurisdiction they happen to fall for their term of office.

The taxpayers of Hancock County can and should be very proud of the performance by our representative, J.P. Compretta, with regard to this bill.

He is fighting for what is right and has not succumbed to what appears to be skilled political parliamentary maneuvering on the part of powerful opposition to the measure.

In the face of such concerted efforts to deprive citizens of their rights to examine public records, my confidence is renewed by having Mr. Compretta represent my interests in Jackson.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Lana Noonan
Bay St. Louis

Guest speaker for the kickoff will be Dr. Francis Morrison, professor of medicine and director, division of hematology and oncology at The University of Mississippi School of Medicine, Jackson.

Dr. Morrison will speak on the Nature of Cancer with a question and answer period following his presentation.

Hancock County Representatives expected to attend include Joycelyn Tresch, crusade chairman; Betsy Nolan, public education chairman; and Wanda Barnes, memorial chairman.

Kiln man killed on Hwy. 603

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR. Hwy. 603 in a black Charger when his car collided with a brown Chevrolet heading south driven by Jerry Smith of Metairie, or Marraro, Kenney explained. Haas was believed to be 20 years old. The patrolman noted the accident occurred at a street intersection just south of Jourdan River Shores sales office. "Haas was taken to a Keesler Air Force Base hospital in Biloxi. Smith was taken to Hancock General Hospital in Bay St. Louis and later transferred to Oschner Foundation Hospital in New Orleans," the patrolman said. Officials at Oschner Saturday afternoon would not provide any information about Smith. Kenney said damage to both cars was so extensive that it took almost two hours to clear debris from the right-of-way. The patrolman noted that two "Jaws of Life" hydraulic rescue tools were needed to free both men from the crushed vehicles.

more equitable system and you could still have had a three-county authority," Chisholm continued. He stated, "Town X is only paying an equitable portion....The town which is more adequate is going to subsidize other communities."

"Everybody pays equal," Chisholm stated.

"Cost and reimbursement could have been allocated a bunch of different ways. The three county plan choose to go equal along the Coast."

Longo said Waveland initially "shouldered one of the largest" bills along the Coast when installing their sewage treatment plant.

"We have paid our sewerage bill and we do not intend to pay anybody else's."

Lucien Gex, the Waveland Authority's engineer, asked the representatives if they would keep an open mind toward any plan presented to the Bureau.

"We are not irrevocably against the three-county system and if we submit a plan we would like to know if you would feel the same toward our method and view it on a fair and impartial standpoint."

Both Dana and Chisholm agreed they would be willing to view the plan impartially.

Chisholm warned the authority to present accurate figures.

"Make sure your figures are cheaper," he said.

"Do no sprinkle any pixie dust." Chisholm had mentioned earlier that there was no 'easy solution' solved with 'pixie dust' or a 'black box'.

"There is no inexpensive way. There is a less expensive way."

Ray Eaton, Waveland Authority's engineer, said his engineering firm could give a "more accurate estimate" as opposed to the engineers of three-county plan who deal on a regional basis.

After the meeting Dana said the average cost per customer along the coast would be $8.20 a month if the treatment program is managed by the three-county authority.

He explained how to figure the cost for Bay St. Louis and Waveland area by referring to the final chart in the fifth book of the CH2M Hill study.

That study has the approval of the EPA and the BPC.

Using those figures this reporter figured the cost per household at $6.38 per month.

Don Benson, project director of CH2M Hill engineers stated he anticipated that the cost per-household in the Bay St. Louis-Waveland area would be lower than the other areas at this point.

He attributed the lower cost to 'incorrect meter readings' in the area at the time of the CH2M Hill study.

Benson said a detailed study of the Gulfport Biloxi area indicated that other area readings (outside those communities) along the entire coast are approximately 40 percent low.

He stated the cost per customer in Bay St. Louis and Waveland 'will approach the $8.20 figure for the Coast' when more detailed study is taken in the area.

Benson said problems with figuring the cost per-household through the Hill study resulted because 'charges were figured per 1 million gallons of usage' in that study.

"Charges were not figured by the household," he said.

Dana said the $8.20 figure includes the cost for construction, operation and maintenance of the main interceptor from Bay St. Louis to Waveland, the pumping station at the site of the sewer pond and the expansion and improvements of the Waveland treatment plant.

That figure is estimated for those people whose homes currently are connected into the Bay St. Louis sewer pond and those connected to the Waveland treatment plant.

He said construction costs for adding the Cedar Point area and others areas in Hancock County will be 'the responsibility of those areas' when they are incorporated into the regional sewage treatment facility.

"Construction costs may not necessarily show on the individual's bill," Dana said.

He stated the cities have the option of applying a tax millage charge to cover additional costs for construction as more areas join into the treatment facilities.

Dana added the deadline for entering the system at a rate of $790 per one million gallons has passed.

He said he anticipated the cost for joining the system now would increase. He refused to speculate on what the cost will be in the future if Hancock County does join.

He stated earlier in the meeting that the three-county authority's figures are based on the entire coastal region involving cities which have no treatment facilities with others which need only modifications.

"It is hard to take all those different levels and treat them all equally."

additional weight capacity. They approved the change order and stipulated engineering fees and resident inspections will not exceed $3,000 of the $35,000 available.

The board also authorized issuance of a notice of award to Carter Mullings for that contract and authorized the execution of the necessary contract.

Issuance of a notice to proceed with construction depends upon acceptance of the commission action by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors.

In further business during the recess meeting at commission offices on Hwy. 603 just off US-90, the board:

—Authorized a $600 payment to obtain an easement to Waveland Resort Inn for a sewer line;

—Authorized Webre to accept the lowest and best bid for construction of the sewer line after declaring the situation an emergency. The Commission's office is no longer hooked up to any operating sewer line;

—Approved a request by Andy Ewing, fixed base operator at Stennis International Airport, to extend a one percent fee on gross one more year. The charge would normally have been three percent after the third year;

—Authorized Webre to employ additional office help on a temporary basis;

—Authorized the transfer of $10,000 from the Industrial Park Revenue Fund to the Industrial Park Roadway Account;

—Authorized a direct deposit of the EDA funds into Hancock Bank.

Upon a motion by commission attorney Gerald Gex, the board went into executive session until the end of the meeting.

Hennett reported a four-inch 80-pound pressure gas line located under the plant addition would have to be moved.

The mayor also reported a city water well is located within the addition and recommended talking with Alcan officials about the company buying the well.

Bennett said the gas line would have to be moved and recommended a contractor be hired to do the work.

City Utility Supervisor Bill Johnson stated, "This is a high pressure line which runs from City Hall to Alcan and it has a meter located in the plant addition site."

Johnson also recommended the line be moved and the meter be placed at the plant gate.

Councilman James Thriffley said, "I'd like to see facts and figures involved in the gas line project first."

In reference to the water well, Bennett said it was a relatively small well.

"I thought about approaching Alcan officials to see if they would be interested in buying the well and placing a well in the newly annexed area," the mayor recommended.

Johnson said a concrete slab has been poured for a portion of the plant addition and recommended prompt action so the city would not have to tear up any of Alcan's slabs to move the well head.

"The well could be put into operation for the city, but it has no chlorination equipment," Johnson noted.

Bennett stated, "I'd go along with the mayor and see what we can do with the purchase arrangement."

In other business at the 7 p.m. meeting at City Hall, the council:

—Accepted a single bid from The Sea Coast Echo for legal advertisements;

—Accepted bids from Security Savings and Loan Co., Peoples Federal Savings and Loan Co., Merchants Bank and Trust Co. and Gulf National Bank as city depositories;

—Accepted a $450 low bid from Emile Piazza to clean property owned by Claudia Adam which was declared a public menace;

—Approved a resolution commending the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre's cast members of 'The Sea Horse' who recently won state competition. The resolution was in response to a request by play director Laurie Byrd for a donation so the group can participate in regional competition in Orlando, Fla. The council, however, failed to allocate the requested donation;

—Approved minutes of a January City Planning and Zoning meeting in which a zoning change from R-1 to R-1A was approved and accepted preliminary subdivision plat for Martin Warden's property at 117 Cedar Point Road, and Adolph (Gus) Uram was asked to appear at the next meeting to discuss a requested zoning change of his property on Central Avenue from R-1 to C-1;

—Agreed not to issue Louis Jacquillard of Bay Auto Glass another privilege tax license until the State Attorney General determines if the business paid sales tax during a 10-month period. Lester LaFrance, a neighbor to the Citizen Street business, asked the council to close the business due to noise pollution. Jacquillard's current permit expires Feb. 26;

—Commended City Clerk Edward Favre for earning certified public accountant status;

—Denied a tax exemption requested by Hancock General Hospital for property leased from Coulter Electronics of Hialeah, Fla.

—Referred a request by the City Board of Adjustment to the planning commission. The board asked a variance be issued to Mike Necaise for construction of a residence five feet from his west property line in Westwood Village Addition near Sunset Drive. City regulations call for residential structures to be placed 10 feet from boundaries;

—Heard a report from Gex recommending the city request use of Hancock County's voting machines for an upcoming election;

—Heard a report from Bennett that a water well serving six homes, owned by Leo Parker near Old Spanish Trail and Bismark Street, has been condemned and property owners will pay a fee for providing water service to the homes;

—Heard a report from Bennett that the Police Department needs $600 to pay the city's share for using Hancock County Sheriff's Department National Crime Information Center terminal; —Heard a report from Bennett that the city has applied for a grant to buy a new heater for the Retired Senior Volunteer Program office in the Valena C. Jones Center.

British, US vessels open for inspection

Gulf Coast nautical buffs will have a rare opportunity to visit aboard both British and U.S. Navy ships during the coming week.

The British Royal Navy coastal survey ship, HMS Bulldog, arrived in Gulfport Friday for a five-day visit.

The U.S. Navy amphibious landing platform, USS Ponce will arrive Tuesday for a visit and to participate in an amphibious exercise with local Marine reserves.

Bulldog will be open for general visiting Sunday from 2-4 p.m.

Ponce will be open for general visiting Wednesday and Thursday from 1-4 p.m. and for tours by organized groups on Friday.

The 1,000-ton Bulldog, which has a crew of 42, is designed for coastal and inshore work and a limited oceanographic role. The ship carries the most up-to-date sounding, sonar and position fixing equipment.

A newly highly sophisticated sector scanning sonar, called Hydrosound, has been developed and Bulldog is the first ship to be fitted with it.

Activities for the British crew during their visit to the Gulf Coast included a rugby match against the Gulf Coast Rugby Football Club at 10 a.m. Saturday morning at Jones Park, a soccer game at 10 a.m. on Sunday against a team from the Navy Seabee Center and tours of New Orleans.

The commanding officer of Bulldog, Lt. Cmdr. W.D. Frisken, made an official call on the mayor of Gulfport and the commanding officer of the Naval Construction Battalion Center following the arrival of the ship on Friday.

French class completes year's third field trip

The sixth Grade French class of Christ Episcopal Day School participated in their third cultural field trip of the year recently which included lunch at Arnaud's in the French Quarter after completing a unit on restaurants and dining in their books.

They were given a tour of the costume rooms containing the costumes worn by the Arnaud family in the many Mardi Gras balls over which they have reigned as king or queen.

The students were also given a tour of the kitchen facilities before dining.

The majority of students chose specialties — Shrimp Arnaud and Trout Meunier.

Roth fifth and sixth grades sang at the County Home and at Gulfview-Raven, then brought baskets of food and gifts to needy families in town.

Their teacher, Mrs. Kathryn Edwards, said she is hoping to take the sixth grade on a final trip to Southwest Louisiana where the students will tour French sites in Lafayette, St. Martinville, and Avery Island.

Members of the sixth grade are Andrea Ambrose, Rob Betcher, Josh Bowles, Brian Boze, Parker Deen, Michael Ford, Henry Furr, Lizette Giles, Ginger Gilmore, Holly Hunt, Joe Kee, Billy Kimbrell, Rusty Ladner, Monique LeBourgeois, Stephen Montagnet, John Montz, Michael Neely, Craig Reeves, Haviland Wallace, and Will Thofield.

Catahoula facility. Woodrow Ladner again questioned the need to immediately close all the dumps, but Louie Ladner explained, "What this is doing is taking the liability off of us. All we're doing is officially closing these dumps to avoid any liability."

Board member Johnny Banks suggested, "Let's advertise this action. It's the Board of Supervisors' responsibility to supervise these dumps."

Louie Ladner then offered a motion stating, "All dumps be closed Feb. 21 and three notices be posted in the local newspaper."

"The supervisors have the option to maintain the dumps if they are willing to lease the property," he added.

After the board approved the motion Sills reported, "We will have to submit a statement to the State Board of Health regarding what we plan to do about this situation."

Louie Ladner asked Board Attorney Joseph Gex, "If the supervisors won't take over the dumps who will enforce a no dumping notice?"

Gex replied, "The sheriff."

VA questions and answers

Q. As a serviceman, how do I obtain a Certificate of Eligibility for a GI home loan?

A. You must have at least 181 continuous days in active duty status. You then must obtain, from your base personnel office, a statement of service showing all periods of active duty served honorably with no time lost. You must also obtain a DD-1747, Permission to Live Off Base form, from your base housing office. Once you have these two forms, contact your nearest Veterans Administration regional office, which will assist you in making application for your GI home loan.

Prater, Young vows solemnized in Pearlington

First Southern Baptist Church in Pearlington was the setting for the December 23 exchange of vows between Valerie Jean Young and Marcus Carlton Prater.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T.C. Young of Pearlington. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Prater of Pascagoula.

Rev. Steve Jackson officiated at the 6 p.m. double ring ceremony. Standing candelabra adorned with peach roses and peach candles flanked the kneeling bench on either side.

The entire ceremony was based on scriptures from the Bible.

After the bride was presented to the groom, they kneel at the prayer bench and committed themselves and their marriage to the Lord. While they were kneeling, recording of the "Wedding Song" was played. All the music was pre-recorded orchestra music by the "Praise String" and sung by "The Children of the Day".

After their commitments were declared, the groom quoted from Joshua 24:15: "Choose this day whom you will serve, as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord."

The groom's vows were based on Galatians 2:20; Genesis 2:23; I Corinthians 11:17; Ephesians 5:29; and Genesis 2:24. The bride's vows were based on Genesis 2:18;

Ephesians 5:22-23; Proverbs 18:24.

After Rev. Jackson read exhortations from Ephesians 5, the bride and groom lit one candle symbolizing two lives becoming one in Christ Jesus our Lord and Savior.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of ivory bridal satin fashioned with princess lines and chantilly lace sleeves. The bodice featured a portrait neckline and was embellished with seed pearls. Her chapel length veil of ivory illusion fell from a caplet trimmed in chantilly lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade of peach silk roses and rosebuds and forget-me-nots.

Vickie Young of Pearlington attended her sister as maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Virginia Young of Pearlington and Veronica Young, Taber of Pasadena, Calif., sisters of the bride; and Christine Prater of Fort Walton, Fla., sister-in-law of the groom.

The attendants were attired in matching gowns of peach satin, designed with softly gathered skirts, shawl collars and long full sleeves of peach silk organza. They carried nosegays of rainbow colored silk rosebuds with peach organza.

2nd Lt. David Quinn of Los Angeles, Calif. served the groom as best man.

Groomsmen were Cadet 1st Class Kenneth Prater of Pascagoula, brother of the groom; 2nd Lt. Kenneth McMillan of Columbus, Miss.; and Capt. Timothy Prater of Fort Walton, Fla., brother of the groom.

Ushers were Vance Young of Pearlington, brother of the bride; and Chuck Taber of Pasadena, brother-in-law of the bride.

A reception followed the ceremony at the First Southern Baptist Church fellowship hall.

Assisting at the event were Mary Green of Bay St. Louis; Mrs. Eula Carver of Pearlington; Pam Sellers of Bay St. Louis and Mrs. Eldora Summers of Pearlington.

The couple will reside in Enid, Okla. where the groom is enrolled in a pilot training program at Vance Air Force Base after receiving a B.S. degree from the U.S. Air Force Academy. The bride attended the U.S. Air Force Academy for three years and will graduate from Philip's University in May with a degree in physics.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Henry Williams and family of Huntsville, Ala.; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. O.R. Young of Tulsa, Okla.; and maternal grandmother, Mrs. Mamie Deitsch of Los Angeles, Calif.

Cooking utensils, methods can help control energy use

You've insulated the house, turned down the thermostat, wear a sweater to keep warm, and still are bothered with energy bills.

More energy-efficient cooking methods might help you control your personal energy costs.

Begin by looking at how you are cooking. Putting a small roast in a full-sized oven is an obvious waste of energy. It might be wise to use a toaster oven to cook such items as small roasts.

If possible, use an all-day cooker as these do not consume very much energy.

Additional energy-saving ideas include:

• Keep range burners and reflectors clean so they'll reflect heat more efficiently.

• Turn off oven and surface units a few minutes early and let the existing heat finish the job.

• Don't preheat oven when broiling or roasting.

• Since it takes one-third more energy to cook frozen foods, thaw them in the refrigerator first—unless the recipe requires them to be cooked frozen.

• When cooking with water, use only the required amount to avoid unnecessary energy waste. Never boil water in an open pan.

• Simultaneously cook dishes that require similar oven temperature.

BY DR. L.S.
WALKER

By L.S. WALKER, DD
LIFE'S PRIORITIES ARE IMPORTANT! The saying that "children brought up in church are seldom brought up in court," has proven true in a great measure. Records of the Federal Bureau of Investigation bear out the truth of this statement.

One prominent church leader stated that the first six years could well determine course of life of a person if concentrated religious training was given during these formative years.

The Ephesian Christians were admonished to "Bring their children up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord" — Eph. 6:4.

Again the Bible says: "Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it" — Prov. 22:6.

Parents who neglect to bring their children for the study of God's Word and Worship all too often live to regret the type of life style which these children may turn to in their lives as adults.

Children deprived of Bible truths to base their conduct and living experiences on are at a distinct disadvantage. It is little wonder that we see so many who are juvenile delinquents and turn to dope and crime.

They have no proper foundation for constructing a life and they reach out to the short-lived pleasures that sin offers and find they are adrift in a world that has neither love nor understanding.

The world DOES NOT love its own. It merely devours them in sin and when they are used up — the world in disgust turns away from them — ready to give them to Christian people who are willing to try to help them.

Truly does the Scriptures tell us that a man will reap whatsoever he sows. When one lives only for the satisfaction of the flesh, he will soon enough discover that fleshly things all quickly come to an end and offer no hope beyond the present.

He, or she, as the case may be, who sows to the Spirit will indeed have hope in Christ for His eternal life.

You are building a life today! What are your priorities? Have you included God? He has included you. He is mindful of you this very day and everyday. To be sure, we all will give account unto God of our life and our living — Rom. 14:11-12.

There's an Answer!

by Norman Vincent Peale
and Ruth Stafford Peale

Wants him to hurt

Q. I had both arms and hands in a cast from a swimming accident when I found out my husband was having an affair. I would still be in the dark if he hadn't had a car wreck late at night with his lady friend. I'm so bitter and vengeful.

I have attacked my husband on five different occasions. I want to claw his eyes out. I want him to hurt like I do. For two months I stayed locked in the house with the lights off and curtains pulled. I cried day and night. My 8-year-old son helped me; he's great. I probably would have killed myself. I just know I can never forgive or forget.

A. You will never get anywhere being bitter or vengeful, and locking yourself up in the house can lead to mental imbalance. Moreover, you are doing your young son a great injustice to enlist his help and sympathy.

If you really want to be happy you will have to give up your misery and become a joyful, loving person. Hard experiences can either make or break us. It is up to you whether you want to be miserable and embittered or, a far better choice, become the mature, attractive woman God made you to be.

We are sending you our booklet Thought Conditions which has helped others overcome bad thoughts. Anyone wishing a free copy may write to us at Box 500, Pawling, N. Y. 12564.

Is witchcraft wrong?

Q. I have a book about witchcraft. Before I read and use this book containing spells I would like to know that it would be alright with our Lord. I am a believer in Jesus Christ. How would He feel about witchcraft?

A. If you can read about witchcraft in a scholarly fashion just as you would read of any strange phenomenon it won't hurt you as a Christian believer. But be careful not to fall for it. As a Christian you are in, Truth, and true followers of Jesus Christ are always mentally sound, never dabblers in strange doctrines. Nor do they need "spells" for they have God's power within them.

Bad example

Q. We lost our lovely 28-year-old daughter about a year ago, very suddenly. She was the mother of two sweet little girls. Her husband promised to care for them, but to this day, almost a year later, they have not been in Sunday school or church except the weekends they visit us.

He also has a "live in" arrangement with a divorcee. We love our granddaughters so much and feel this situation is such a bad example. We have tried reasoning with the father. What steps can we take? If we keep quiet and stay out completely, giving it all to God, are we failing?

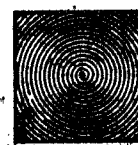

A. You are facing a tricky situation. If you push too hard your son-in-law will back away completely and you'll lose whatever influence you now have. If you retreat altogether the little girls will miss out on loving guidance from their grandparents.

If you can strike a middle point where you still have influence on your grandchildren and a rapport with their father you have the chance to instill your Christian values into their family life. Do this and then commit the whole situation to God in prayer.

Can't evict her

Q. A dear friend of many years is without funds and has been with me since I was widowed 10 years ago. She has developed arteriosclerosis of the brain, making memory impossible and personal responsibility a thing of the past. I can't evict her, and she cannot or will not accept the fact that she is not normal. I have tried to be patient, but I am 80 years old and have many physical problems. I want to share, but I must care for my future too. Any advice will be appreciated.

A. It is inadvisable for a person of your age to be saddled with a friend in the

TIMBERLINE

By Randa Rutherford
Hancock County Forester

TREE PLANTING WEEK

Mississippians will again have the opportunity to express their appreciation for trees and what they mean to the state's economy and environment during the week of February 9-13.

That's the special week set aside for Mississippi's seventh annual Tree Planting Week, sponsored each year by the Hancock County Conservation District Commissioners and the Mississippi Forestry Commission.

State Forester Dick Allen, chairman of the Mississippi Tree Planting and Forest Development Committee, which annually kicks off preparations for the special week at the state level, is very enthusiastic about the upcoming 1981 tree planting events.

He sees these programs as "Tremendously appropriate opportunities to not only beautify our local communities, but to remind us all about how much we benefit from our forest resources."

Allen points out, "forestry is the real backbone of our State's economy and excellent outdoor environment."

We haven't even begun to realize its real potential for the betterment of Mississippi and its people."

He also notes forestry is the number one agricultural crop in 35 counties including Hancock County and statewide is second only to soybeans in the production of agricultural income.

Since 1975, when the first statewide Tree Planting Week was conducted, over 25 million trees have been planted during the week-long "Celebration of Trees" events.

Hundreds of thousands of school children have participated in local ceremonies to honor trees. Many schools set aside Arbor Day the second Friday in February and the final day of Tree Planting Week to set out memorial trees on their campuses.

Free seedlings will be given out at the Soil Conservation Service office in Bay St. Louis during Tree Planting Week, Feb. 9-13.

The conservation service office is located in Colonial Plaza on U.S. 90.

If you want a handful of seedlings for your yard or property come on down. You can't complain about the price.

If you have any questions, feel free to contact the conservation office by telephoning 467-5108 or my office at 467-4728 for more details. See you then.
